By AMANDA WILSON

Romulus students will soon be feeling the impact of officials' decision to update the Junior High School.

Due to renovations set to begin in the near future, one or all of the students may have to relocate.

"We're looking at our options so that we can make the best decision possible," said Superintendent Dr. William

"We're looking at our options so that we can make the best decision possible."

- Dr. William Bedell

Bedell.

In a school board meeting Monday, members of the board, along with construction representatives from Barton Malow Company discussed the possibility of moving some of the students to Gordonier Elementary on Smith Road, which has not been used for educational purposes in 15 years.

"There were other companies using the building up until a year ago so we were hoping it wouldn't be too difficult to move the kids right in,"

Bedell said. "However, after checking into it, the building is in pretty tough shape and it will cost about $50,000 to fix it up."

The projected costs prompted discussion of other options during the meeting Monday.

"We have several different ideas we're now going to check into," Bedell said.

One option is to see about renovations of another abandoned school, Hayti Element-tary which has not been used in two years. Bedell said he also plans to check and see if other school districts have anything to offer.

"And in the meantime, we'd like to meet with parents of the students to see what they think."

Although plans do not have to be made immediately, Bedell said they do need to be made soon because the $9 million renovation of the junior high school is set to begin in the spring.

"It is possible to work with some or even all of the students remaining in the building but we do plan to gut the building and need to have a contingency plan," Bedell said.

He said if the kids do remain in the building during renovations, the process could take up to 18 months instead of the proposed 12 to 15 without their presence.

Local students sent into outer space

By AMANDA WILSON

Even in the daylight with a sky full of clouds, students at Barth Elementary had a chance to sit among the stars Monday.

In a portable, 30-foot, inflatable, reflective dome equipped with the latest "state of the art" projection devices, more than 300 students had a chance to explore outer space without even leaving the school.

The dome, set up in the school gymnasium, was provided for the day by Mobile Ed Productions, Inc.

"We wanted to do something different for the kids and wherever I called for ideas the name Mobile Ed kept coming up," said Celia Chesno, president of the Parents That Care organization. "I told them they better be good or we wouldn't have them back again and they certainly are good. Everyone, even the teachers, had a great time."

Entering the dimly lit room through a tunnel hooked to the side of the dome was just the beginning of the excitement for children who came in waves of 30 to 40 to experience the excitement of turning the day into night in a matter of seconds. A slide presentation and an explanation of the stars set the mood for a show that the kids could hardly believe.

"It just looks so real that the kids really seem to get a kick out of it," said Chesno.

Through a display projected on the ceiling of the dome, students had a chance to take an amazing 45-minute journey through the heavens. During their trip, they were introduced to the stars in the northern hemisphere, and even had a chance to explore the Greek constellations and the myths and legends that go along with them.

"The stars were projected across the entire dome and it really gave you a feel of being outside under the stars," Chesno said.

"They even move like the real constellations, giving the students a view all the stars that can be seen in a 12-month period," said Dell Potter of Mobile Ed who made the presentation. "The kids really seem to enjoy it and can really learn a lot."

Because of the success of the program, Chesno plans to hire the company for two more presentations this school year. The first will take place in February and will host animals and mammals of all kinds. The second, an environmental study, will take place in April.

"Hopefully these will be just as successful as the first," Chesno said.

Officials ring in the new

Following tradition, Romulus city council members rang out the old and rang in the new in their meeting this week.

First on the agenda, newly elected Mayor pro tem Mary Ann Banks commented, "After two years absence, it's great to be back. I'd like to thank all the elected officials for so graciously making me feel welcome and I am both humbled and proud."

Banks formerly served as mayor pro tem from 1977 to 1989 at which time she elected not to seek office.

Randolph Gear was elected as chairman pro tem and will chair the meetings in the absence of the current mayor pro tem.

Pamela Kersey was also elected to a similar capacity to serve an eighth term as deputy clerk for the city, a position that would have her fill the shoes of City Clerk Linda Choate should she be absent.

Council members unanimously voted to continue having council meetings at 7:30 p.m. on the first, second and fourth Monday of every month.

"This has consistently been a workable schedule for everyone involved," said Councilman Jimmie Raspberry.

Also reappointed Tuesday evening were Patricia Lenderman and Marlene Spitz who serve on the Romulus Board of Canvassers.

Council member Ellis Pennington was elected unanimously to serve as representative of the council at the planning commission meetings.

"Councilman Pennington has held this position in the past and has done an excellent job," Banks said.

Nearing adjournment, Banks resigned her position with the city board of appeals and Raspberry nominated former councilman Fred (Junior) Block for the position.

Alumni recover from disaster

By AMANDA WILSON
ANP Staff Writer

Alumni from the 1986 Romulus High School Class are getting back on their feet after a blow from a bankrupt company pulled the rug out from under them last week.

After suddenly being informed that the company hired to organize their class reunion went out of business, taking their money with them, class members have begun to fight back.

"So far, we've been unable to reach anyone in the company, but we're hoping the Better Business Bureau will help us get our money back," said Class President Mickey McDonald Zotkovich.

And they're not the only ones. The Illinois-based company, called 'Reunions - A Class Organization, Inc.' recently informed many reunion committees throughout the metro Detroit area by letter last week that the company went out of business. The result forces 28 classes in Michigan that hired the service to drop their reunion plans, or find an alternative measures.

"Fortunately, we didn't lose as much money as some," Zotovich said. "In fact, right now I believe they have less than $100 from my class, but I heard of one class who is out $16,000."

Closer to home, a total of 130 Plymouth-Salem graduates from Canton Township sent $40 each to 'Reunions,' totaling $5,200. The money was to make arrangements for the rental hall, food, decorations and music but the only arrangement made by the company was a $300 deposit sent to the Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth to reserve the hall.

"We've been contacting everyone who is coming to the reunion to give them updates on everything that's going on," commented Alison (Nagy) Ellingson, co-organizer of the Plymouth-Salem reunion. "We've gotten no complaints from those who have already paid. Everyone has been really great about this."

The classes first heard about 'Reunions' earlier this year when letters advertising their services were sent to committee members. The letter stated that anyone wishing to use the service need only have each alumnist send $40 to the company who would in turn take care of the organization and all

DIGEST

Goodfellows seek Christmas help

The Romulus Goodfellows are currently accepting applications for Christmas gift baskets and aid.

Anyone wishing to offer their assistance is invited to pick up an application at the Romulus City Hall, Romulus Fire Station Number Four or the Romulus Police Department.

All requests for assistance must be made on these applications and must be turned in by Dec. 13 to the Romulus Police Department.

The Goodfellows would also like to remind residents that the annual paper sale will be from 7 a.m. until 3 p.m. Dec. 7.

Anyone interested in offering assistance at this event is asked to meet at the Fire Station Number Four on Eureka Road before the sale begins.

For more information or to make a donation to Goodfellows, contact officer John Smagner at 942-6864.

Historical society seeks donations

The Romulus Historical Society is seeking donations of lights and money for holiday projects at the Romulus Historical Museum.

Society members would like to begin decorating the inside of the museum as soon as possible and plans to begin planting of artificial evergreen trees which will be decorated in representation of different time periods in history.

Anyone interested in donating lights, money or any type of historical items or documents related to Romulus History, can visit the museum or send items to: The Romulus Historical Museum, P.O. Box 386, Romulus 48174.

The museum is open from 1 until 4 p.m. Sundays.

Volunteers sought for recycling

Volunteers are still being sought to provide help on Romulus recycling days.

Duties will include helping residents to unload and distribution of recyclables to the different bins.

Anyone interested in helping may contact Jeff Martell in the Community Planning and Recycling office at 942-7592.

Kelsey-Hayes Group honored

Officials at the Romulus Kelsey-Hayes Group are pleased to report that their Western Wheel facility in Huntington, Ind., has earned two General Motors Targets for Excellence Awards for its performance in quality and delivery of aluminum wheels.

"I am pleased and proud that the Huntington facility earned the GM Targets for excellence awards," said Brian Allenspach, president of the Kelsey-Hayes North American Aluminum Wheels business.

"The Huntington plant's commitment to quality simply underscores Kelsey-Hayes' commitment to providing world class aluminum wheels here and abroad.

Kelsey-Hayes is a major supplier of conventional brakes, anti-lock brake systems, electrical control devices and steel and aluminum wheels for the automotive industry worldwide.

The Huntington plant provides General Motors with aluminum wheels for the company's Pontiac Bonneville, Trans Sport, Grand Am and Sunbird Models, as well as the Buick Park Avenue.

Residents offered free education

Romulus Adult Education is offering residents a chance to excel in the areas of computer applications and electronics.

Six-month courses are being offered in both areas of study. All 17, 18 and 19-year-old high school graduates, G.E.D. holders of any age, and non-high school graduates qualify to take the classes for free.

The Computer Application course is will provide a basic understanding of both the computer and Disk Operating System (DOS).

Students go shopping for good behavior

By AMANDA WILSON
ANP Staff Writer

Students at Corey Elementary School aren't selling themselves short.

As an incentive for having good behavior, the students have the opportunity take part in a bi-monthly shopping spree.

"It's part of the Positive Behavior Program we have going on at Corey," said Principal Phyllis Adkins. "It gives students the incentive to work hard and it really pays off."

The "spree" is done at the 'Cougar Stop and Shop,' a store, located inside the school and run by volunteers.

The catch is that money is not used to buy any of the items.

"We have a system called 'High Five' in which students can earn five points a day for good behavior and for completing assignments in the classroom," Adkins explained. "At the end of two weeks, the students go to the store and buy items priced on the point system."

With their points, students can buy stickers, pencils, autograph books, Nerf balls, earrings, pens and many other items. The more valuable the item, the more points it's worth, according to Adkins.

"For example, the price of a rubber ball is 200 points where stickers would be much less," she explained. "It gives students incentive to work for the item they really want."

Although the school store was open last school year, it was then run through funds from a state grant called "Operation Graduation." Currently, it is sponsored by the Parent Teacher Organization and merchandise within it is bought with money from them or donated by parents, according to Adkins.

"It's a very unique year for the store because we weren't able to get the grant this year, yet the parents pulled through to sponsor the program. It's a really positive thing for the students and the parents."

The store is currently run by Wanda Moore, manager and mother to one of the students.

"It's turned out to be a wonderful idea and it really has helped to improve behavior and work of the students," Adkins said.

Help Center opens to area customers

By AMANDA WILSON
ANP Staff Writer

In their continuing effort to offer a hand to those in need, the Romulus Help Center hosted an open house last week, introducing the staff and their services to the public.

Although the Help Center has been open for business for more than 20 years, it recently moved to a new location and currently offers more services than ever before.

"We don't just handle substance abuse anymore," said Doug Plant, clinical services supervisor.

Operating under the belief that education is the key to success, Help Center employees are continuing to provide such services as individual, group and family counseling for people with alcohol and other drug-related problems. In addition, they recently added mental health services.

"Our new program offers services to anyone with any type of emotional or mental problem," Plant said.

Although they are currently dealing primarily with those suffering from depression and anxiety disorders, staff members are also equipped to handle situations arising from family-related, work-related and stress-related problems and any type of parental insecurity.

"We have added a licensed psychiatrist to the staff and will continue to add to our staff so that we can administer to the needs of the people," Plant said.

Much like substance abuse programs, mental health services can be administered individually, in groups or through family counseling. The programs are designed to help individuals deal with feelings of helplessness or hopelessness so that they can go on to lead a happier life.

"We are prepared to offer short-term services for those who just need emotional support while going through a rough time, or long-term services to those who are in need," Plant said. "With our licensed psychiatrist on staff, we now even have the capability of providing medication to people enrolled in on-going therapy."

As an added advantage, the center is now working with several insurance companies so that payment for those in need is easier than ever.

"We're extremely excited about the many great changes the center has recently undergone and we hope that our open house has made more people aware that we're here to help whenever and however we can," Plant said.

Holiday delays expected

By AMANDA WILSON
ANP Staff Writer

The stringing of 6,500 lights on the 20-foot tall Christmas tree at Detroit Metropolitan Airport has begun, marking the start of the busiest flying season of the year.

"The week before and the day after Thanksgiving there's always a crunch at the airport," said Barbara Rickert, executive assistant of Community Relations at the airport. "And then comes the traffic for Christmas."

For that holiday, she said, airport traffic is heaviest on Dec. 20, and again in the week immediately following Christmas day.

What this means, of course, is that it may be wise to start a little earlier when heading for your flight, according to Rickert.

"But maybe not too early. Anyone getting ready to come to the airport might be interested to know that the traffic hotline is always updated and open for their use."

Twenty-four hours a day, the hotline recording will tell the individual what the current parking situation is in each lot, if, when and why the traffic is heavy, whether or not the lines are long at the ticket counters and any other type of information that may be pertinent at the time. Currently, it provides information about shuttle service offered at the airport and the cost of valet parking.

"It also tells which lanes are being worked on and if traffic is slow due to the construction going on down I-94," Rickert said.

Fortunately, she said, the construction should be finished by the Christmas season so it should not play a factor in the traffic situation.

"But it will tell about any delays going on at the time and it can really help put a traveler's mind at ease," she said.

The hotline number is 942-3838.

High School students honored for educational excellence

By AMANDA WILSON
ANP Staff Writer

For some students being successful doesn't necessarily mean having the highest grades.

Last week, 45 Romulus High School students in a ceremony with their parents present, were recognized as "Students of the Month."

"These students were selected by their respective teachers for excelling behaviorally and academically for the month of October," said Dan Hurst, assistant principal.

Students who attended the ceremony received a certificate of achievement and a $50 savings bond from local sponsors.

A new aspect recently added to the program makes senior winners eligible for a drawing that allows them to park in a reserved parking space at the school for the entire month.

"It is with great pleasure that I congratulate the following students for their past monthly achievements," Hurst stated.

Leah Aggison, Michael Ashley, Chad Barnes, Genesis Barnes, Carey Brazynetz, Rachel Byard, James Catron (Athlete), Jason Chmura, Scott Cowens, Patricia Cox, Bobby Craft, Daniel Czajkowski, Moshieal Davis, Tameta Davis, Lisa Decker, Chris DeLaney, Sara Fralick, Danielle Franklin, Marikah Gill, Robert Graham, Daniel Higgins, Timothy Howell, Wendy Kelsey, Emily Kesner, Muhammed Khalifa, Joyce Kniceley, Lisa Kochanski, April Krey, Kristi Mawby, Anna Mercier, Brian Mitchell, Brian Molenda, Shanika Osborn, Jennifer Piazza, Amanda Pino, Joshua Remelius, Everette Robbins, Angela Sieracki, Marion Smith, Catina Statzer, Herbert Studstill, Tiffany Vargo, William Wallen, Jeffrey Wilkinson and Rose Williams.

The winner of the senior parking space this month is Muhammad Khalifa.

Sponsors in the Partnership for Education were: Lear Seating, United Brass, St. Lawrence Press, Lance Knudson, the Romulus High School Athletic Department, the Romulus Kiwanis Club, Marriott Host International, Stears Hardware, the Romulus Progressive Club, Header Products, Holiday Inn, Crova GMC, the Romulus Community School Central Office Administrators, Chem Central, Detroit Air Transport Local Lodge 141, Fred and Gail Coleman, Graduate Services, McDonalds, Bill Jones Enterprises, Carolina Freight Carriers, the City of Romulus, Form Flow, Inc., Dr. Rhonda Hennessey, DDS, Horizon Enterprises, Lasting Images, Romulus Auto Supply, Dr. Kundan Sata, DDS, Westlane Industries, Edgewood Tool and MFG., Special Tree and Total Petroleum, Inc.

"I would like to thank this month's sponsors for being our Partners in Education," Hurst stated.

costs involved with staging of the event.

They then went out of business, emptying their bank accounts last week and vacating their offices. Efforts to reach managers of the company continue to go unanswered.

"Even though this happened, we're going to have our reunion," said Zotkovich.

In fact, she said, there is one way this whole ordeal has worked to the graduates' benefit.

"We're now going to be able to have just as great of a party for much less of a price," she said.

Students see shows, reveal favorites

A poll of Girlstown residents revealed that In Living Color is their favorite television show. In addition, the girls reported watching only a few of the new offerings of the season.

Most reported that comedies, action and adventure programs were their favorite choices.

Christina, a ninth-grader at Belleville High School, enjoys watching Step by Step, Beverly Hills 90210 and Full House. Shannon, a BHS 10th grader is a fan of MTV. Amanda, an 11th grader, enjoys a variety of comedy shows, including Fresh Prince, Facts of Life and The Cosby Show. Lakita, also an 11th grader, reported that she enjoys In Living Color because "It's a real blast."

Andrea, another 11th grader avoids television as "90 percent commercialized," and watches videos instead.

Dory, Dana and Sherri, all eighth graders, enjoy comedy and adventure shows. Super Boy gets the vote of Sherri and Dory and Dana favors True Colors.

Barbie, a seventh-grader, chose MTV music videos as her favorite television entertainment.

The informal survey was made during a visit to Girlstown by the Belleville Enterprise editor. The input of the residents was incorporated into a feature story on television programs which was published in the Sunday Eagle & Enterprise.

High school lists events

Belleville High School students have busy schedules through the end of the year.

This week parent-teacher conferences were conducted and registrations were taken for college testing. Thanksgiving recess is slated Nov. 28 and

How do local children keep busy and exactly what occupies their time?

In Canton Township, youngsters have found a multitude of ways to keep busy including art classes at school and afternoons spent in the local library or parks.

In addition to the traditional search for just the right book or story, Canton children can also enjoy puzzles and puppet shows at the library while art students in Constance West's art class at Isbister Elementary have an opportunity to demonstrate their creativity.

When it comes time to expel some of that extra energy, however, local children still find a trip to the park for soccer, tree climbing or just racing against the wind is the best solution for that excess energy.

Photographer Deanne DeYonker caught many of the local children at play last week and caught them at their various means of entertainment.

Thanksgiving fare

It's almost that time of year when dreams of turkey and stuffing, pumpkin pies and whipped cream and the arrival of Santa occupy the daydreams (and a few nightmares) of nearly all. Recently, members of the First Congregational Church in Wayne prepared their annual Christmas Fair dinner and craft sale for the enjoyment and early shopping of area residents. The aroma of roasting turkeys and the appeal of the baked goods were not lost on the crowds who fully appreciated these harbingers of the holidays soon to come.

Tonya Ireland stirs two pots of turkey gravy to use on the 22 turkeys (460 pounds) cooked for the First Congregational Church Fair. The turkey baking is an annual event for the church. ANP photo by Deanne DeYonker/staff photographer

Belleville offers a trip to 'Christmas past'

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

An opportunity to revisit a "Christmas Past" is available at the Belleville Area Museum on Dec. 7, following the annual Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce Christmas Parade.

The buildings will be decorated in traditional style and volunteers will be ready to welcome guests in old-fashioned style, said Fonie Butler, BAM curator.

The BAM, located in the former Quirk Elementary School, contains scaled-down replicas of 11 historic turn-of-the-century buildings from Belleville, Sumpter Township and Van Buren Township:

- Wabash Depot, which was built in the early 1800s. The first train came through Belleville in 1881. After a fire in the early 1960s, the depot was razed. The "Belleville" sign from the east end of the building was saved, and is currently displayed on the replica of the depot.

- Van Buren Township Hall and Grange was built in 1875 and has served through the years as a library, police station, jail and office building. It now houses the offices of The Enterprise, Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce and Adventure Travel. The second floor was paid for by the Grange Society and used as a meeting hall.

- Denton Methodist Church was built in 1869 on two lots purchased for $100. The Methodist Society was organized in 1840, and the first church built in 1850.

- Dressmaker shop is typical of the combination shop and residence of the era. In 1881, there were two dressmakers and a milliner in the area.

- Pullen Furniture Store was operated by J.C. Pullen, who also operated an undertaking establishment on Main Street near High Street prior to 1913.

- Beebe's General Store, owned by Everett Beebe, was located in Sumpter Township and is an example of the national style of architecture.

- Sumpter School, a one-room schoolhouse, featured separate doors for boys and girls to enter and exit separately.

- Dr. Forbes' office and home, built in the early 1850s by John Forbes was located at 368 Liberty St. For many years his son, Dr. Elias Forbes, lived and practiced medicine there.

- Arlington Hotel, built prior to 1890, was renamed the Mandt Hotel in 1901 when purchased by William Mandt. Before it burned in 1981, it served as a meat market, shoe store and carpet shop. Apartments were located on the second floor.

- Campbell Drug Store, located in the old Music Hall, was operated by Sam Campbell. The drug store was on the left side of the building and A.E. Smith, original owner of The Enterprise, occupied the right.

- Bank of Belleville was organized in 1899 and by 1910 a new brick building was constructed at Main and Fourth. In 1915, the bank was renamed Peoples State Bank, and later was purchased by the National Bank of Detroit and moved to the present location.

Changing exhibits of artifacts are featured at the museum and outdoor exhibits are being developed.

The BAM is open weekdays from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., and admission is free. Information is available regarding special events and activities by calling September Days Senior Center, 699-8918.

Former manager returns to revive 'Brass Bell'

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

Pam Brigandi plans to ring in the old during the season when everyone is ringing in the new.

"The original Brass Bell is back, and we're ringing in a lot of new ideas as well as going back to many of the successful items of years ago," Brigandi said. "I've taken over the management of the restaurant that I managed seven years ago before I opened Belle's Chicken."

The Brass Bell was one of original shops in the Belle Plaza Shopping Center on Sumpter Road, and has been a popular area restaurant for many years. When the management position became open recently, the owners of the center approached Brigandi to fill the post and bring her expertise into revitalizing the restaurant.

Fans of Brigandi's fried chicken need not worry, however, because she will continue to operate it, along with managing the nearby restaurant.

"I've been running back and forth from the old Ranch House Restaurant, which we are re-naming the Brass Bell, and Belle's Chicken. It's a good thing that both are located in the Belle Plaza, or I couldn't keep tabs on both businesses," Brigandi said.

Some of the old items are re-appearing on the menu, such as the popular Friday night crab-leg buffet.

"We're going to pull some of the popular items from our past menus and combine them with new items. People still remember our special salad bars, the pies baked by the 'Pie Lady' and our fresh-squeezed orange juice, and those are the things that we want to re-instate," Brigandi said.

The 140-seat restaurant is slated for a new look, but it will not close during the remodeling.

"Our customers will be seeing the changes slowly. We'll do our remodeling little by little," Brigandi said. "It's time for an update. We're going to have new carpeting, wall-paper and new window dressing. When everything is completed, we plan to stage a grand opening celebration."

Brigandi plans to concentrate on quality and service at the restaurant.

"We have a lot of regular customers and I know how important it is to them when their waitress knows how they take their coffee and can greet them by name. Those are the friendly touches that we want to have at the Brass Bell," Brigandi said. "We also believe we have a lot to offer with our location that features a lighted parking area and a safe atmosphere."

Country is part of cooking at The Cracker Barrel

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

With a menu that features sugar-cured ham, chicken and dumplings, turnip greens and farm-raised catfish, you know you are in for some "down home cooking" at the Cracker Barrel Restaurant.

The restaurant, the 106th in a Tennessee-based chain, opened at Belleville Road and Interstate-94 at the end of September. Although roadwork temporarily tied up traffic on the highway and a group of protestors demonstrated periodically outside, the restaurant has done phenomenal business since its opening.

The reason, apparently, is that a lot of travelers and local residents have had a pent-up hunger for country cooking that hasn't been satisfied by area eateries. So much so, that diners often wait an hour or more for a table.

For someone who has grown up with Southern-style cooking, a visit to the Cracker Barrel is, indeed, a trip back home. After all, where else can you get biscuits made from scratch, sorghum molasses, milk gravy and greens slow-simmered with country ham hocks?

The most pricy item on the menu is the rib eye steak at $9.95, served with a baked potato or fries, a tossed salad or a choice of vegetable - buttered corn, green beans, whole baby carrots, pinto beans, turnip greens, fried apples, breaded okra or hashbrown casserole. Those in our party who chose the rib eye described the meal as "excellent."

My choice of a chicken dinner, at a modest $6.99 Autumn Applefest price, included two roasted chicken breasts, dressing and gravy, two vegetables and homemade buttermilk biscuits plus a fresh apple - more than I could comfortably consume at one sitting. Each dish had a distinctive Southern flavor from the seasoned green beans to the cornbread dressing, and was not only tasty, but a good value for the money.

The company takes its name from the old-fashioned cracker barrel, which was the center of activity in rural country stores. It is an atmosphere that Dan Evins, founder and president of the company, hopes to recreate in his chain of restaurants.

While waiting for a table, restaurant customers can browse in the adjacent gift shop which offers housewares, toys and specialty foods. The gift shop, complete with vintage photographs, antiques and memorabilia, even has real cracker barrels, rocking chairs, hoop cheese and country hams.

And the country-store look isn't just for show. In fact, during my visit, two overall-clad small boys sat down at a check-erboard atop a small barrel and played a game, just as one might imagine children did at a country store a century ago.

The restaurant is open seven days a week. Hours on Sunday through Thursday are 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. On Friday and Saturday, the restaurant is open from 6 a.m. to 11 p.m.

TRAVEL TIPS

What makes San Francisco so unique? Probably anyone over the age of six can tell you it's the cable cars that carry residents and tourists up and down the unbelievably steep hills throughout the city. Fisherman's Wharf where people go to shop and sample some of the best food in the world and the Cannery, where street artists perform during the summer months. It's a city of contrasts which must be explored thoroughly before moving on along the coastline known as the famous 17-mile drive.

It's within easy reach of the famous redwoods of Muir Woods and Sausalito, a beautiful town and art colony worthy of landscapes itself. It's a place where one can visit museums and enjoy the best music the world has to offer, a place one can shop in unique boutiques or the finest department stores. San Francisco certainly doesn't lack fine gourmet restaurants but you'll also find wonderful eating places in almost every neighborhood in the city.

You could probably spend as much time as you can spare and never get bored, but you can also visit San Francisco as part of any trip to California. You can make it the first or last stop, perhaps traveling between cities by rental car or on any number of excellent tours of varying duration.

We'll help you plan a trip to San Francisco by finding the lowest air fare, the best hotel rates and the finest sightseeing the area has to offer. Won't you give us a call soon?

Church bell finds a new home

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

The 130-year-old bell of the First United Methodist Church of Wayne has a new location, and it is just like home.

On Nov. 3, the congregation of Wayne dedicated a newly-built decorative tower to house the bell which is no longer rung to announce services.

The tower, located on the southeast corner of the church property, is an exact replica of the bell tower which once stood on top of the former red brick Methodist Church and was built in Wayne in 1862.

Although the Methodist congregation dates back to 1832, the red brick building was the first solely Methodist Church building to be constructed in Wayne.

In 1850, the Methodist and First Congregational people of Wayne jointly built a wood structure building which they shared co-operatively, alternating services.

In 1862, the Methodists built their own building, the red brick church, while the First Congregationalists continued on in the wood structure. That congregational church building burned in the early 1970s.

Jim Sutcliffe and Steven Roe were among the church volunteers who recently helped move the 130-year-old bell from First United Methodist Church to a new tower.

The red brick building was replaced by the Wayne Methodists in 1926 with the oldest part of the present church building. Two additions have been made since a new sanctuary in 1956 and the education/fellowship hall, office wing, in 1986.

The project to build a replica bell tower resulted from a suggestion that money given in memory of Howard Coughenour, a former member of the Wayne congregation, be used to provide an appropriate setting for the bell.

It had been removed from the roof of the oldest part of the present church because of the weakened condition of the roof.

Jim Sutcliffe, a retired builder and member of the Wayne First Congregational Church, spent many weeks determining the design and pre-fabricating the structure of the bell tower.

He researched old records, both in the church and in the Wayne Historical Society Museum, to determine design and dimensions. Floyd LeSuer Jr. was in charge of the brick work and contributed labor and related materials in memory of his parents, Floyd and Le-vina LeSuer.

A number of other volunteers also worked on the project.

Volunteer agencies anticipate needs

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

A combination of an economic downturn and cutbacks in aid have prompted an increase in people seeking help from volunteer agencies in western Wayne County.

"We expect to serve more people this year because unemployment, layoffs and cutbacks in public assistance have swelled the number of needy people in the state," said Lt. Heidi Smith of the Norwayne Corp Center of The Salvation Army. "We don't have an estimate on the number of people we will serve, but we do expect an increase from past years. As we become more known in the area more people contact us for help."

The Norwayne Corps has served Westland, Wayne and Romulus for three years.

"On Friday, all of The Salvation Army officers have been called to Lansing to meet with the governor and plan ways to help the needy," Lt. Smith said.

Lt. Smith noted that applications for assistance are being taken at the Norwayne Corps office at this time. Applications that are received before Dec. 6 will be sent to The Salvation Army headquarters and checks will be made out to eligible applicants to enable them to purchase food at Farmer Jack and toys at Kmart. After Dec. 6, those who apply will receive food baskets.

"We've been hit very, very hard. We've had a big increase in people needing food, but not a comparable increase in donations," said Toni Hunt, who heads the Belleville Food Closet at the United Methodist Church of Belleville. "Our cupboards are almost as bare as Mother Hubbard's cupboard, and we continue to have people come in seeking help."

A typical food bag from the Belleville Food Closet includes a box of cereal, canned meat and tuna, crackers, pork and beans, canned fruit and vegetables plus odds and ends of donated foods. If there are infants in the family, baby food is also included.

"Donations of non-perishable foods can be dropped off at 417 Charles St., Belleville, between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. on weekdays, and pickups can be scheduled by calling 697-9288," Hunt said.

Major Robert Thompson, divisional social services director of The Salvation Army, expects an increase of assistance applicants of 8 percent or more.

Thompson noted that The Salvation Army recently completed a successful coat drive and has begun a second coat drive.

"People can help by bringing donations of coats or canned goods to their local Salvation Army community center. Contributions can be made in the red kettles or mailed to 16130 Northland Drive, Southfield, Mich. 48075-5218," Thompson said.

Beginning on Nov. 22 the annual red kettle collections will begin at malls, stores and street corners. Red kettle donations provide a major portion of the money used to fund the holiday programs.

Goodfellows in western Wayne County communities will begin their fund-raising drives next week to ensure that there will be "no child without a Christmas."

Men jailed in shooting

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Suburban Editor

An Ypsilanti man and a Milan man were recently sentenced to Jackson State Prison by Detroit Wayne County Recorder's Court Judge Harvey F. Tennen for shooting a 30-year-old Romulus man March 15 at the Red Apple Restaurant and Inn parking lot in Wayne.

Ypsilanti resident Randall E. Steffey, 29, received two years in prison for one count of possession of a firearm and 15 to 30 years in prison for one count of assault with intent to commit murder.

He will be serving both terms contiguously.

Milan resident Terrence E. Hoffman, 23, received 12 to 30 years in prison for one count of assault with intent to commit murder.

The incident started as an altercation in an Ypsilanti bar between one of the suspects and the victim, according to Wayne police Lt. Kerry Webb. The shooting later took place in Wayne when the suspects followed the Romulus resident to the Red Apple Restaurant and shot the victim in the leg and abdomen, Webb said.

The Romulus resident was transported to Ann Arbor Hospital and was later flown to the University of Michigan Hospital. He was released after a few weeks.

Ford urges approval of family leave bill

Congressman William D. Ford (D-Michigan) urged Congress to pass a bill that would compensate employees if they or a member of the family suffer an illness and have to miss work.

"This bill reflects the fundamental needs of today's families who must struggle to balance work and family," Ford said. "But it also reflects the legitimate needs of business to fairly manage their personnel."

Ford believes that parents should be allowed to take a paid medical leave when their children or other immediate relatives are seriously ill.

"Can you imagine telling your child who is facing a serious illness or even surgery, 'No, I can't be there to hold your hand and assure you that everything will be all right because I have to work or I will lose my job,'" Ford said. "How would you feel? How would you tell your child? Why should anyone have to make such a choice?"

Ford wants the bill enacted so that children can take care of their ailing parents, too.

"Imagine your elderly mom or dad facing a life-threatening illness or surgery, and you are miles away at work unable to take leave without loss of your job," Ford said. "You think of the years of love and support they had given to you and now, if only you could take a few days, you could be there when they needed you. But no, your family needs your income and you can't risk losing your job."

Ford has been trying to pass the Family and Medical Leave bill since 1985.

"We need to care for our families as a matter of national policy," Ford said. "Our families and our children need to be assured that in times of crisis this nation believes they should be entitled to fundamental fairness in the workplace."

"This issue is a vital one in our country today," Ford said. "We know that 82 percent of firms provide no leave to care for sick children, 56 percent of U.S. production workers have no sick leave at all, and only 37 percent of all female workers in companies with 100 or more workers are covered by paid maternity leave. It's time for a fair change."

United Way offers help to area needy

Many disadvantaged people in Canton Township, as well as the surrounding communities of Belleville, Inkster, Romulus, Wayne and Westland, have received a helping hand this year because of the fundraising efforts of the United Way. A total of $62 million has been collected to date in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties alone for United Way agencies.

"Thousands of volunteers and the contributors who have given so generously should feel proud of this effort," said William T. McCormick, Jr., general chairman of the Torch Drive.

The contributions have helped people deal with critical problems such as homelessness, hunger, substance abuse, illiteracy, care for the elderly, delinquency and crime, families under stress, and much more. United Way supports health and human service programs at some 150 United Way supported organizations in the tri-county area.

"So far this year, 8,257 people in Canton Township have been helped in some way by United Way agencies," said Gary Lichtman, media director for United Way in southeast Michigan. "There have been 2,709 people helped in Belleville, 5,184 in Inkster, 4,133 in Romulus, 4,401 in Wayne and 10,871 in Westland."

Seven companies based in southeast Michigan have raised over $1 million so far this year through employee and corporate contributions. They are Chrysler Corp., Comerica, Inc., Detroit Edison, Ford Motor Co., General Motors Corp., Michigan Bell and NBD Bank. A combined federal employee campaign has also donated more than $1 million.

"Some of the agencies involved with United Way in southeast Michigan are the Arthritis Foundation, Children's Hospital, the Hunger Action Coalition, Michigan Cancer Foundation, the Red Cross, Big Brothers, National Kidney Foundation of Michigan, The Salvation Army, United Cerebral Palsy Association and the YMCA and YWCA," Lichtman said. "But there are many, many more organizations involved."

Contributions toward the United Way are directed where it will do the most good. Priority community needs, quality of services, efficiency of operations and bottom line results all determine where dollars are allocated, according to Lichtman.

The United Way urges anyone who knows of someone who needs help in some way, but doesn't know where to turn, to call United Community Services at 226-9888 in Detroit or 1-800-552-1183 toll free outside Detroit. Call 226-9452 if hearing impaired (TDD).

Business group to sponsor programs

A series of informational programs, sponsored by the Belleville Central Business Community, will resume at the Victory Station community center in the beginning of January.

The series was launched in October by Gary Sampson of Adventure Travel who presented tips on planning a perfect vacation. The second program in the series was a gun safety presentation by Anthony Talaga of Smith's Sporting Goods on Main Street.

No program is planned in the Avenue of Adventure series in December. The series will continue on the first Wednesday of January.

Programs, which will be presented by local business and professional people, are:

- Jan. 8, 1992, Substance Abuse as a Family Disease, Carol Ehrenberg, Eastwood Clinic.

- Feb. 5, 1992, Tax Tips - Personal and Business, Gerald McKelvey of McKelvey & Associates.

- March 4, 1992, Ask Your Vet, Dr. Gerald Graf, Belleville Animal Hospital.

- April 1, 1992, Funeral Planning, David Brown of David Brown Funeral Home.

- May 6, 1992, Water Safety, Van Buren Township Public Safety Director Mark Perkins.

There is no fee or pre-registration for the programs.

Semifinals on Saturday

It's Robichaud vs. Monroe St. Mary's for trip to Pontiac Silverdome

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Robichaud, the defending Class B state football champ, is one victory away from a trip to the Pontiac Silverdome and the coveted state title.

Blocking Coach Bob Yauck and the Bulldogs' path to the state championship game is undefeated and revenge-seeking Monroe Catholic Central. The two teams are scheduled to meet at 11:30 a.m.

Saturday at Hillsdale College.

The survivor of the semifinal battle will advance to the state title game scheduled for Nov. 29.

Yauck has a lot of respect for St. Mary's football tradition and coach Joe Sandersen. The Falcons have won all 11 of their games this season. Robichaud will bring a 10-1 record into the contest. Their only loss was to Dearborn Heights Crestwood, a non-conference rival.

"They are a power-team, a proven winner," said Yauck, of his semifinal opponent's strength. "They remind you of a Bo-coached team. You have to be ready to stop their running game if you want to beat them."

For those who just stepped on to planet earth from Saturn, Yauck was referring to Bo Schembechler, former University of Michigan head coach, whose teams were noted for running rather than its passing game.

Sandersen said that he appreciates the outstanding quality of athletes produced at Robichaud.

"They certainly have a lot of ability over there," Sandersen said. "Running back Gary Phillips has been outstanding and quarterback Tom Massey can really throw that ball. And they have a superb defense. We will need to play a flawless ball game to beat them."

St. Mary's is led by 5-11, 187-pound senior fullback who has rushed for over 1,200 yards and scored 15 touchdowns this season. Tailback Carey Miller, a 5-10, 185-pound junior, has established himself as one of the finest in Monroe County. He has 600 yards to his credit.

The Falcons' field general is Nick Calkins, a 5-8, 158-pound junior who has mastered the art of the option.

Defensively? There are no individual standouts, Sandersen said.

"This whole defensive team has been outstanding all year," he added.

St. Mary's and Robichaud met last year in the semifinals and Robichaud came away with a 27-0 victory and a ticket to the Silverdome.

The game has to be on the minds of the two coaches.

"We must put out our best effort to beat them," Yauck pointed out. "They don't make mistakes."

Robichaud burns Devils with late TD pass, 14-7

By KEVIN LITWIN
ANP Staff Writer

Tough, punishing, defensive football was in abundance last Saturday when Dearborn Heights Robichaud defeated a hard-nosed Grosse Ile team, 14-7, at Moore Field in Dearborn Heights. The win earned Robichaud the Class B Region 4 championship.

Defending Class B state champ Robichaud (10-1) will now face Monroe St. Mary Catholic Central (11-0) in a semifinal game at 11:30 a.m. Saturday at Hillsdale College. The winner will advance to the Class B title game Nov. 29 at the Pontiac Silverdome.

"I really give Grosse Ile a lot of credit," said Robichaud coach Bob Yauck. "They played with a lot of heart. They were not that big physically, but they sure came here to win. Heck, they almost did."

"They almost did" is right. The game was up for grabs until late in the fourth quarter when Robichaud defensive back Derrick Rendles came up with a key interception with Grosse Ile driving, and ran the ball back to the Grosse Ile 37.

A few plays later, Rendles, who also plays split end, caught a 15-yard touchdown pass with 1:16 left in the game, and the Robichaud players could finally breathe a sigh of relief.

"That was a tough, tough game," said Bulldog middle linebacker Ivory Burks, who made many important tackles throughout the contest. "They (Grosse Ile) played a great game. I was really nervous towards the end. I thought we were going to lose."

Burks was the leader of a Robichaud defense that held the Red Devils to 3 of 13 passing for 22 yards. Another big contributor in the Robichaud defensive attack was senior cornerback Eddie Lawrence.

"Grosse Ile played a solid game, and they had us mixed-up early," said Lawrence. "We finally got our heads into the game and started to play. But defense won the ballgame for us today. I remember a coach at Michigan once told me that offense wins games, but defense wins championships."

The first nine minutes of the game looked like the proverbial battle between the immovable object and the irresistible force. Crunching tackles and bruising blocks had the capacity crowd at Moore Field oohing and aahing on almost every play.

But Robichaud co-captain Steve Gill provided the first big offensive play of the contest when he fielded a punt on his own 42, and scampered 49 yards to the Red Devil 9. Three plays later, senior running back Gary Phillips ran the final 5 yards to put the Bulldogs ahead. Phillips then kicked the extra point, and Robichaud led, 7-0, with 2:50 remaining in the first quarter.

"I really give Grosse Ile a lot of credit. They played with a lot of heart. They were not that big physically, but they sure came here to win."

- Bob Yauck
coach

The teams traded possessions, and Grosse Ile began a scoring drive at their own 36 with 10:06 remaining in the second quarter. Led by the running of tailback Chad Miller and fullback Mike Heimbrook, the Red Devils marched 64 yards in six minutes, with Miller running the final 3 yards for the touchdown. Bob Banks kicked the extra point, and the game was tied, 7-7.

Both defenses dominated the remainder of the quarter, and the teams headed to the locker room deadlocked.

The Bulldogs and Red Devils continued to slug it out in the third quarter with neither team penetrating the opposition's 30-yard line, and the quarter ended with the score still tied, 7-7.

Futility on offense continued for the teams for the first 6 1/2 minutes of the final quarter. Then, fittingly for this defensive struggle, cornerback Rendles intercepted Grosse Ile quarterback Errol Robinson's errant toss, and returned it to the Red Devil 37 with 5:38 left.

Yauck screamed at his players to make this next drive count, and his troops responded. Running back Phillips picked up an important first down on a third-and-three play with a slashing run to the Grosse Ile 25, then powered 14 yards to the 11 to set up another first-and-10.

Yauck yelled final instructions to his team after a timeout with 2:27 left, then Phillips ran 1 yard to the 10. After a delay of game penalty pushed Robichaud back to the 15, Phillips was stopped for no gain, setting up third and 14 from the 15 with 1:21 remaining.

With the crowd screaming and the outcome in the balance, quarterback Thomas Massey dropped back to pass and hit Rendles in stride for the final 15 yards.

"I was pleading with Mr. Yauck a couple minutes earlier to please throw me the ball because I knew I could beat my man," said

Derrick Rendles leaps for joy and comes down into the arms of teammate Jamal Bohannon (5) after Rendles caught the game-winning touchdown pass from quarterback Tom Massey. The Bulldogs surfaced with a 14-7 victory over the Red Devils of Grosse Ile to qualify for the Class B state semifinals. Goals are hard to come by, but Canton skater is big scorer

ANP Staff Writer

Junior right wing Joe Bonnett of the Western Michigan University hockey team gave in to a huge sigh of relief when he saw his shot turned into a puck-hitting the back of the net in the WMU victory over Ohio State recently.

The teams eventually skated to a 4-4 overtime tie.

Bonnett's next reaction to the goal was exhilaration mixed equally with gratitude.

A Canton resident, Bonnett wasn't just thrilled because the goal was his first of the year or, at the end of the game, that it turned out to be the game-winner, the first of his career, or even that the goal was picture perfect with a thread-the-needle pass from senior center and assistant

"My first reaction to the goal was total relief. I thought to myself, 'Hey, this is only the sixth game.'"

- Joe Bonnett

as a freshman with a goal just before the holiday break and two points, a goal and an assist, as a sophomore.

Last year, the only lamplighter came in the second to the last game of the season in the loss to Lake Superior State in the semifinal game of the Central Collegiate Hockey Association game at the Joe Louis Arena.

But the wait for that first point this year was a shorter one.

"My first reaction to the goal was total relief," said Bonnett. "I thought to myself, 'Hey, this is only the sixth game.'"

However, Bonnett's emotion was gratitude—that the puck went in and that Scott gave him such a great pass.

captain Scott Garrow.

He was most thrilled that it was simply a goal that came six games into the season.

Goals have been hard to come by for Bonnett since he joined the Broncos.

Points, for that matter, have been scarce as the Bronco fourth-liner earned only one

All-Area coming

The semifinals and the state finals - that is all that remains to a thrilling and unpredictable 1991 high school football season.

And when the last hurrahs are heard next week at the Pontiac Silverdome, the first of a series of All-Area teams will be making their appearances on The Associated Newspapers sports pages.

Who are and were the best preps of 1991?

The question will be answered by the ANP staff writers and the high school coaches who will select the cream of the crop.

Don't miss the all-star lineups and the coaches of the year.

Also, the ANP sports staff is making its quarterly plea for schedules, this time for the winter sports. Athletic directors who have not mailed the schedules are urged to do so.

Dodge enters battle for buyers

Established in the 1991 model year as the most powerful mid-size pickup truck with the only available V-8 engine, the Dodge Dakota pickup reaches even higher plateaus of performance for 1992.

Major redesigns of the 3.9-liter V-6 and the 5.2-liter V-8 engines, as well as significant improvements to the drivelines supporting these powerplants, are certain to appeal to Dakota-targeted buyers.

The first and only mid-size pickup truck available since its introduction in 1987, the Dakota offers more standard payload, the largest cab, the largest pickup box and the highest trailer-two rating of any compact truck.

It is available in two-wheel-drive and four-wheel-drive models Conventional Cab or Club Cab (extended cab) versions.

Dakota's two engine offerings—officially designated as the Dodge Magnum Series Engines—encompass an 80 to 85 percent redesign of previous components, plus the addition of sequential multi-point fuel injection management systems.

Both engines will present dramatic increases in peak horsepower—45 percent higher for the 3.9-liter V-6 and 30 percent for the 5.2-liter V-8. Torque figures also are up substantially.

The 3.9-liter is rated at 180 horsepower at 4,800 rpm with a peak 225 pound feet of torque at 3,200 rpm, compared to 125 horsepower and 195 pound feet of torque for the 1991 version of the engine.

The 5.2-liter also benefits perceptibly. It has a peak 230 horsepower at 4,800 rpm, along with the 280 pound feet of torque at 3,000 rpm. In its 1991 configuration, the 5.2-liter produced 170 horsepower and 260 pound feet of torque.

Computer-generated, simulated acceleration tests of the Dakota with the two new engines underscore the performance gains to be realized from each powerplant.

With the redesigned V-8, the Dakota achieved 0-60 mph in 8.3 seconds versus 10.8 seconds for the previous 5.2-liter engine. With the new V-6, even greater improvement was attained, the Dakota going from 0-60 mph in 9.3 seconds compared to 14.1 seconds for a 1991 version.

The 3.9-liter V-6 is standard on four-wheel-drive Dakota bodystyles and optional on two-wheel-drive models. The 5.2-liter V-8 is optional across the line.

A 2.5-liter, electronically fuel-injected 4-cylinder engine is standard on two-wheel-drive Dakota Conventional Cab and Club Cab models.

Increased horsepower and torque output from the newly-designed V-6 and V-8 engines will be accommodated by a major upgrade of Dodge's heavy duty 4-speed automatic transmission, as well as a new quieter, smoother shifting 5-speed.

The improved horsepower and torque of the Magnum engines require upgrades to the truck as well, including new propshaft universal joints, improved axle components and new, larger exhaust systems with reduced back pressure to enhance performance, and reduce noise, vibration and harshness.

Conventional model Dakota pickups are built either on a 112-inch wheelbase with a 6'1" foot cargo box or a 124-inch wheelbase with an 8-foot box. The Club Cab has a 131-inch wheelbase and features the 6'1"2 foot box. Both boxes are double-walled construction and feature two-tier loading access.

Dodge Dakota pickup

Dakota boasts a large 2,500-pound payload capability in Conventional 2WD models and 2,000 pounds in Club Cab models.

Three new Dakota option packages will be offered for 1992 to address the wide market in which Dodge Trucks compete.

These include the SUPER-LE package featuring V-8 MPI power for Club Cab models; a new CPECIAL-LE package featuring the V-6 MPI automatic on Conventional Cab Long Bed models, plus a new, low-priced Sport package featuring the new V-6 manual for Conventional Cab Short Bed models.

Additional technical improvements for 1992 include a serpentine belt accessory drive with self adjustment added to the 3.9-liter V-6 engine. The standard battery is upgraded to 600 amps, while the optional battery has been increased to 800 amps.

Three new exterior colors—Copper Metallic, Light Sand

Metallic and Dark Forest Green Metallic—will be available, as will one new interior color—Spice Tan.

Standard features on Dakota include power front disc brakes, rear drum and anti-lock brakes, 15-inch wheels and tires, cargo box with stake pickets, lighter, dome light, full gauges and dual outside mirrors.

Options include air conditioning, power remote outside mirrors, power door locks and windows, power steering, sound systems, two-tone paint and several other equipment packages.

What year did a fire destroy the historic Wayne Theater and when it was restored, what kind of theater did it become?

1985, it turned from a vaudeville theater to a cultural center.

Take A New Look At The 92's!
